Examiner Comment:

Of the two 132 declarations to which applicants refer in their timely response, only the declaration by Joo-Hwa Tay was received, image scanned, and uploaded to the PTO's Image File Wrapper System by which the examiner considers IFW application papers. It's unclear to the examiner why the other declaration was not accessible. The point is moot, however, because the Tay declaration alone is sufficient to follow the lead of In re Katz and has successfully overcome the rejections of record. If applicants wish to resubmit the other 132 declaration, they may,¹ but it is unnecessary from the examiner's point of view: Tay's declaration represents that the individual named as an author of non-patent literature was working under the direction and control of one or more of the two named inventors.

Claims 1 – 15 are allowed.
